

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

Stone colour, pattern and joints

1. Marble, granite and other stones are natural substances and subject to variations in colour and pattern. There is no difference for engineered stones commonly known as quartz which usually contain a high percentage of natural stone components. No slabs and samples are of the same colour and pattern. They are different one from the other slab or the other portion of the same slab. Stone products (including countertops, backsplashes, fireplace faces, stair steps, thresholds, windowsills and products of other descriptions) made from more than one slab are likely to have colour and pattern variations. Irregularities in natural stones such as small cracks, spots, pitting, small fissures and shading variations are expected and unavoidable.

Joints and seams

2. Joints between slabs may appear as normally acceptable in the industry. The joints on countertops will be decided by Spectrum Stone Ltd. It is usually a concern of slab usage, cutting availability and moving-in restrictions etc. Customer may specify the positions of the joints and patterns but it may require more materials meaning a higher price of the stone products.

3. Joints between slabs and seams in between double edges are not totally invisible. Patterns on both sides of joints or seams may be inconsistent with each other.

Stone thickness and surface

4. Thickness of slabs wherever appearing in this quotation (defined as the separate form attached hereto or by an email from Spectrum Stone Ltd.), e.g. 2 cm, 3 cm etc., is approximate for reference only. Customer should not take it as an accurate description for any purpose. Unless otherwise specified in this quotation, slabs are regarded as 3 cm approximately in thickness.

5. Slab surfaces are polished and treated by stone manufacturers before leaving the factory of origin. Spectrum Stone Ltd. needs not to and will not refinish the surfaces. The bottom of the slabs is on an "as is" basis without further work to be performed by Spectrum Stone Ltd.

Templating for sinks

6. (a) Customer must have sinks and/or manufacturer's templates available on the day of countertop templating or measurement. If no sink or template is provided by Customer, the sink hole can only be cut out in accordance with the shape of the sink and this may affect the accuracy.

(b) Customer should check, compare and verify the correctness of the template for the sink chosen. Spectrum Stone Ltd. will only cut out the sink hole in accordance with the template provided by Customer.

Removal, dumping and pre-installation

7. Customer is responsible for removal of existing countertops, backsplashes, tiles, cooktops, sinks, wash basins, faucets, water, gas, electricity and other plumbing apparatus and connection.

8. (a) Customer should move his/her/its belongings to enable free access to the work area before arrival of the installation team. Anything needed to be removed to facilitate installation will be done so at Customer's risks. Spectrum Stone Ltd. is not held responsible for damage to the same or the property in the vicinity.

(b) Customer shall protect the passage with clothes, cardboards etc. from dirt. The installers cannot take off work boots or shoes due to workplace safety requirements.

9. Dumping of old countertops and other items is the responsibility of Customer. Unless shown and included in this quotation, Spectrum Stone Ltd. is entitled to charge a fee when this extra work is requested by Customer.

10. Unpaved road and passage way access will cost extra to Customer. Customer is responsible for expenses to hire a crane or other lifting apparatus, if circumstances shall require, for moving the stone products into Customer's premises.

Sink installation

11. Customer should arrange his/her/its own plumber to install the sinks. Spectrum Stone Ltd. will only provide the cutouts for sinks and drill faucet holes according to Customer's instructions.

12. The plumber may need to grind sink edges to facilitate installation in order to fit the sink into the limited space beneath the countertops. If this would happen, Spectrum Stone Ltd. is not responsible for any charges to be incurred.

13. Reconnection of gas, electricity, water, drainage and/or other related apparatus is the responsibility of and at the expense of Customer.

Countertop and other fixture installation

14. Stone products are very heavy in nature. While every care is taken by Spectrum Stone Ltd. in the course of delivery and installation, Customer is aware that damage to walls, tiles, paints etc. may sometimes happen but unavoidable beyond the control of Spectrum Stone Ltd. Minor chips or damage to the stone products occurring during delivery and installation can be fixed by Spectrum Stone Ltd. and do not entitle Customer to reject the stone products.

15. Customer shall excuse Spectrum Stone Ltd. for the production of dust, noise and other inconvenience which are normally unavoidable due to cutting, grinding and polishing at Customer's premises. Spectrum Stone Ltd. can only provide simple clean up of the work area.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS

16. Countertops are installed on the basis of Customer's cabinet level and frame structure. Shims are only used at certain points beneath the countertops for minor leveling.

17. Walls and other fixture to which the stone products are to be installed may not be perfectly straight or at strict right angle. This might affect the installation workmanship of the stone products. The installers may sometimes cut the drywalls a little bit in order to accommodate part of the stone products for better installation effect. The affected area can be covered by backsplashes or tiles.

18. Spectrum Stone Ltd. will not do any adjustment or modification to Customer's fixture. It is Customer's responsibility to install supporting brackets or corbels when necessary.

19. Any suggestion from Spectrum Stone Ltd. on modification to Customer's fixture does not amount to Spectrum Stone Ltd.'s commitment to do such modification for Customer.

20. Gaps reasonably exist between the stone products and the walls and/or cabinets and most of them can be covered by backsplashes or tiles.

21. There may be minor variance when the stone products are put on Customer's cabinets and other fixture due to their different designs, leveling, angle and frame accuracy etc.

22. There are many factors, e.g. unavailability of slabs from suppliers, broken or damaged products during fabrication or transportation, mechanical breakdown, bad weather, force majeure etc., beyond the control of Spectrum Stone Ltd. that may affect the scheduled installation. If this would happen, the installation would be delayed. Other related or consequential jobs, e.g. plumbing connection etc., may also be affected and delayed at no responsibility of Spectrum Stone Ltd. Customer is advised not to arrange plumbing and other follow up works until after installation of the stone products.

23. Once installed, Spectrum Stone Ltd. will not entertain any request for replacement or return of the stone products.

Price basis and Contract

24. Prices are quoted on the basis of drawings provided and are subject to final measurement when adjustment shall be made.

Complaint by email must be sent to sales@spectrumstone.ca. Spectrum Stone Ltd. will not assume responsibility of whatever descriptions thereafter and, in this regard, time shall be of the essence.

42. Any work done in response to a verbal complaint shall not constitute a waiver by Spectrum Stone Ltd. of protection against its responsibility under the preceding paragraph.

43. The parties hereto irrevocably agree to submit to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Provincial Court of British Columbia in Richmond or the Supreme Court of British Columbia in Vancouver or New Westminster for the determination of disputes arising under this quotation and these Terms and Conditions.
